ALL SORTS.

On Wednesday evening the local candidates will take in Empire.

This is the last week of the campaign. Make it lively boys. Only a week between now and victory.

Ormsby County Silver men save ten thousand a year in county expenses. What's the matter with that?

The programme of the Carson Turn Verein on Friday evening will include a number of young ladies in bloomer costumes.

On Friday evening John P. Jones and General Warner will speak at the Opera House. It will be the greatest meeting of the campaign.

The Silver Assembly ticket is gaining ground daily, and so is the rest of the ticket. Every day brings new strength to the Silver party of Ormsby.

The anxiety shown by the corporations to elect the Assessor has not been lost on the thoughtful voters, and the tide is setting in the other way.

The attempt of the Tribune to juggle with the figures which show how much the Silver party has saved the county, is disgusting honest Republicans.

A few days ago the Republican decided to concentrate their fight on the Assessor, but now they are considering if it is not really money brown away.

The figures published by the Appeal which showed how cheap the county can be run under an honest management, is what is staggering the opposition just now.

Jones, Warner, Newlands and Beatty addressed the largest political meeting ever held in Elko county on Saturday night. Their greeting is a triumphal march and their coming a silver tidal wave.

Take no stock in political side-shows, be they Populist or Democratic, but keep it in the middle of the road and cast your ballot for the Silver State ticket. It will bring the best results to Nevada.

Sam Curtis has examined the new ore development in the Con Virginia and thinks it more important than the big find of 1886. He says the stock should sell for at least 300 per cent above its present figures.

Don't forget that the Turner's dance will come off on the 2nd of November. Tickets are only 50 cents, you get double value for your money; a grand athletic exhibition and the dance of the season.

Bartine is a poor man, which is of itself evidence of his honesty and loyalty while representing us in Congress.—Tribune.

We are not prepared to dispute the above, but his poverty does not give him the right to keep the balance of us poor all our lives, by voting with a party that insists on keeping silver everlastingly demonetized.

Woodbury with his salary of $250 a month as superintendent of a mill wants another $30 from the county while acting as County Commissioner. His opponent, Mr. Singerland, is a young man raised in Carson who has actively been developing the County for years. Woodbury don't need the office any more than a cat needs two tails. The R. R. corporation is the party that wants it.

SPEAKING AT ELKO.

Mr. Wren Refutes Some of Mr. Bartine's Falsehoods.

Elko, Nevada, Oct. 29.
TO THE EDITOR OF THE APPEAL:—Anything to break the monotony of quiet town now—a-ye lailed is a sight as a welcome diversion, even if it be a political meeting. Consequently the two political meetings which occurred this week on two consecutive nights in Elko were well attended.

On the 22nd the G. O. P. made its bow. Anyone who has read my last letter from Eureka will not care for a rehearsal. The speakers were the and with the same speeches. However there was one "ponderous" addition to the party in the person of O. H. Grey, present Secretary of State, but now a candidate for the State ticket. He is a rabid partisan who cannot see anything good in any party non Republican. C. A. L. Grave may be able to convert him. As to A. C. Cleveland, already a fair speaker, he seems to improve in eloquence as the campaign grows hotter. Orris Ring, in addition to his remarks made in Eureka, claimed that he abhorred politics, and although he was running on the Republican ticket for the office of State School Superintendent, he wished it understood that he had no politics.

Mr. Bartine discreetly omitted the name of his sideshow partner, Mr. Doughty, but devoted much time to Newlands.

On the 23d inst. Thos. Wren, the old "War Horse" and more commonly known as the "Father of the Silver party," descended upon the town. He had been there some three weeks ago but this time he came with the sole intention of answering some of Mr. Bartine's remarks relating to Mr. Newlands.

He began by giving a very lucid history of the rise and fall of the different parties in the United States for the purpose of showing—in the first place—that the Republican party itself is only of comparatively recent date, and at one time had been a little third party, energetic and bent upon driving out one of the old parties and becoming a giant, in which it succeeded for a number of years, and—secondly—to refute Bartine's argument that the little Silver party had a hopeless cause, as regarding its developing into a great and powerful one.

He declared Mr. Bartine's stereotyped references to Newlands' silk stockings and patent leather shoes a piece of gross demagoguery, adding that whether in his own house, or on the street, or in the halls of Congress, Newlands always appeared the same man, plainly, but neatly, dressed.

He branded as a falsehood Mr. Bartine's statement that during the great debate on the repeal of the Sherman purchasing clause it was a gigantic task on the part of Mr. Newlands to get recognition from the Speaker, and when he succeeded, that Newlands was only permitted to speak for forty minutes. Tom Wren, who, during the time of Mr. Newlands' speech, occupied the latter's seat, proved to the satisfaction of every one present that Newlands spoke for a full hour, exactly the same space of time to which all the other members were limited to under the rules of the House, and that Newlands would have spoken much longer had it not been for the objection of one goldbug, who prevented the necessary unanimous consent.

He then proceeded by declaring as utterly absurd and misleading Mr. Bartine's assertion that Mr. Newlands' postoffice address could not be found in Nevada. Everybody ought to know by this time, continued Wren, that he is maintaining a beautiful residence in Reno, and that he has heavily invested in real estate, having purchased thousands of acres of land all over the State that practically yielded him no income in the present time of general depression. Mr. Wren concluded his remarks with the suggestion that there was but one course left to achieve a signal success for all the interests of the State, and that was to cast the same amount of votes for the Silver party at the coming election as two years ago.

OSCAR HILDEBRANT.

The Empire Meeting.

The Silver candidates will visit Empire tomorrow evening. There will be speaking by various local speakers and candidates at Wiggins' Hall. A large crowd will go down from here.

JONES AT RENO.

He Will Deliver a Silver Broadside To-night.

Tonight Senator John P. Jones and Gen. Warner will address the citizens of Reno on the Silver issue. It will be a grand gathering of Silver men, and a special train will leave this city if enough Silver men conclude to go to make the requisite number. The fact that Jones will speak here on Friday may deter a good many but it ought not to.

Reno is the town where the movement sprang to divide the Silver forces.

A good many of those who took part in it are now on the fence and are beginning to realize that they had been victimized by designing politicians. It is quite probable that the talk made by Warner and Jones will land them where they belong solidly with the Silver men, and the Carson Silver men should go on the special train and help swell the crowd that will attend the meeting.

It will be a notable gathering of representative men of the State and an occasion that every Silver man who can ought to recognize and attend.

The two speakers will fire such a broadside into the camp of the enemy as will be worth witnessing.

Degged to Death.

On Sunday afternoon a thoroughbred Hovstein which was being driven from Carson to the Holstein ranch was attacked by vicious dogs when it reached the edge of town and run up one street and down another until it sank exhausted near the R. R. Depot.

Its throat was bleeding from the bites of the dogs and it was exhausted from running. It was finally taken to the Holstein ranch in a wagon and died inside of an hour.

Commenting on this the Tribune says: To the discredit be it said that the owners of two-thirds of the dogs looked on and made no effort to call the yelping curs off. A licensed dog-killer is badly needed in Carson.

Chance to Lose Some Money.

The taxpayers are paying heavy for displacing the Republicans from the control of Ormsby county two years ago. It cost $15,228.41 during the Silver party administration in excess of what the Republicans paid out for conducting the county government during the years of 1891 and 1892. Keep this in mind, Messrs. voters, and place Republicans again on guard.—Tribune.

We will wager the Tribune any part of $1000 that the above is an absolute lie that cannot be substantiated by the figures. The Silver party stands ready to wager the above amount, on this proposition, the winner to divide the $1000 among the various religious denominations in this city.

Elko's Majority.

Reliable reports from the southern portion of the county are to the effect that the Silver State ticket will roll up a big majority on the 6th of November. The northern and central portions of the county should do their part and send the ticket out of Elko county with at least 600 majority.—Elko Independent.

Special Train to Reno.

The Silver men have chartered a special car to attend the Jones and Warner meeting at Reno this evening. Messrs. Chedie, Taylor and Folsom have the tickets to dispense of at one dollar for the round trip. The train leaves at quarter past six o'clock.

Jacob Klins left a five gallon keg of beer froth at this office yesterday.
